■ Mbappé bounces back—France shutouts Morocco, heads to semis

The Angle: This is the World Cup quarterfinal everyone's watching: France, the defending champs and tournament favorites, just punched their ticket to the semis with a commanding 2-0 win. Mbappé—still the tournament's biggest story—missed a penalty early but answered with a goal and an assist to prove why he's the breakout star of Qatar.

- Mbappé scored 1 goal and 1 assist after missing a first-half penalty kick
- Ousmane Dembele added the second goal
- France defeated Morocco 2-0 in the World Cup quarterfinals
- France advances to the World Cup semifinals

The Comeback Question

- Is Mbappé the most clutch young player in the game right now—or did he just get lucky that a missed penalty didn't cost France the whole tournament?

■ Judge kills airline complaint secrecy rule in Canada

The Angle: For years, Canadian airlines have kept passenger complaint settlements under wraps—but a court just ruled that wall of silence is coming down. This opens up what airlines and the government have been hiding about flight delays, cancellations, and customer disputes.

- Canadian Transportation Agency implemented the confidentiality clause in 2023 to cover passenger complaints
- Airlines claimed the clause was necessary to protect sensitive information
- An Ontario judge ruled today that the confidentiality requirement wasn't necessary
- The ruling means passengers and airlines can now publicly disclose the results of complaints

The Transparency Win

- Have you had a flight nightmare that got quietly settled? Now you might be able to tell everyone what really happened—and what the airline paid to make you go away.

■ Conservative Party burned $14M despite raking in $85M

The Angle: Canada's main opposition party is hemorrhaging money—bringing in nearly $85 million but still ending 2025 deep in the red. It raises real questions about spending priorities and what that means for their ability to fight the next election.

- The Conservative Party brought in $85 million in revenue during 2025
- Despite that haul, the party ended the year with a $14 million deficit
- The numbers come from financial audits filed with Elections Canada

The Money Question

- Where the hell did $85 million go—and how does a party burn through that much cash and still owe money heading into an election?

CLOSER: THROWBACK THURSDAY

■ Sarah McLachlan and Allison Russell Hit the Road Together This Summer

The Angle: Two powerhouse vocalists are joining forces for a co-headlining tour that's part nostalgia lap, part fresh collaboration. It's the kind of summer lineup that appeals to both longtime fans and newer listeners looking for serious songwriting credentials.

- Sarah McLachlan is touring behind her 2025 album "Better Broken" following the success of her "Fumbling Towards Ecstasy" 30th Anniversary Tour
- Allison Russell is the co-headliner, creating what McLachlan calls a "sister-y road show" for summer dates
- The tour blends commemorative elements from McLachlan's anniversary run with new material and a collaborative energy between the two artists

The Nostalgia Check-In

- Are you a die-hard McLachlan fan from the '90s, or is Allison Russell your gateway into this tour—and does it matter?

■ Turkey gifts NATO leaders loaded revolvers. Canada fires back with syrup.

The Angle: At a major NATO summit in Ankara, Turkish President Erdo■an handed every alliance leader a .357 magnum revolver as a parting gift—a move that caught Canada's new PM Mark Carney completely off-guard. His response? Maple syrup. It's the kind of diplomatic moment that's equal parts awkward and hilarious.

- Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdo■an gave every NATO leader at the Ankara summit a .357 magnum revolver
- Prime Minister Mark Carney called the gift "not what I expected"
- Canada responded by gifting Erdo■an maple syrup in return

The Diplomatic Head-Scratcher

- What's the weirdest gift you've ever received from someone in a position of power, and how did you handle it?

ON-AIR BIT BREAKDOWN

- Step 1: The Setup - 30 seconds -> Hosts riff on the initial absurdity: a NATO summit, Erdo■an handing out literal weapons like party favors. Carney's stunned reaction.
- Step 2: The Clap Back - 45 seconds -> Hosts laugh at Canada's counter-move—syrup. Play up the contrast: revolver vs. pancake toppings. Is that peak Canadian diplomacy or just deflecting?
- Step 3: The Phone Line - 2-3 minutes -> Open lines: listeners share their worst/weirdest gifts from bosses, politicians, or authority figures. Or: what would YOU have gifted back?
- Step 4: The Take - 1 minute -> Hosts wrap with a thought on what this says about Erdo■an, NATO unity, or Canadian diplomacy—serious note under the comedy.

■ LGBTQ+ cruise ship blocked by two countries in one week

The Angle: A charter cruise catering to 2SLGBTQ+ travelers has now been turned away by both Turkey and Egypt—raising questions about discrimination, religious/cultural politics, and what rights cruise lines actually have when countries deny port access.

- The Scarlet Lady, chartered by Atlantis Events (a 2SLGBTQ+ travel company), was denied entry to Turkey first, then Egypt, forcing two route changes in a single week
- This marks the second time in days that Middle Eastern/Mediterranean nations have blocked the same vessel from docking

The Rights & Pushback
