■ The Ocean Cleanup stopped 463,000 pounds of trash from reaching the Gulf of Honduras in a single catch, using a river barrier in Guatemala to intercept waste before it reaches the Caribbean Sea.

The Angle: A nonprofit just intercepted nearly a quarter-million kilos of garbage in one haul before it could pour into the Caribbean Sea - a rare good-news environmental win with a wild number attached that people love sharing.

- The Ocean Cleanup pulled 463,000 pounds of trash in a single catch
- The trash was intercepted using a river barrier in Guatemala
- The barrier stops waste before it reaches the Gulf of Honduras and the Caribbean Sea

The Watercooler Stat

- Try to picture 463,000 pounds of garbage - that's roughly 30 school buses' worth of trash that never made it to the ocean.

■■ Kalshi loses again as judges rule prediction markets must obey gambling laws

The Angle: Prediction markets have exploded as the hot new way to bet on everything from elections to sports, and courts keep saying the same thing: this is gambling, and it has to follow gambling law. It's a real threat to a booming industry millions of people have started using.

- Kalshi has now lost another court ruling on this exact issue.
- Judges determined prediction markets don't get to skip state gambling laws just because they're dressed up as financial exchanges.
- It's part of a growing legal pattern chipping away at the industry's argument that these are trading platforms, not betting apps.

The Debate Starter

- Is trading on 'will this happen' apps actually just gambling with extra steps?

■ Trump says top tech firms have signed accord to 'self-police' AI development

The Angle: The President is touting a voluntary deal where top AI companies promise to police themselves instead of facing hard regulation — critics will instantly ask if that's oversight or just a photo-op.

- President Trump says he's signed a voluntary accord with top AI companies
- The deal has AI firms agreeing to 'self-police' their own development
- No binding government regulation attached — it's a pact, not a law

■ Carney suggests immigration increase is on the horizon in New York Times interview

The Angle: After years of Ottawa slamming the brakes on immigration numbers, the PM just told the New York Times more people could be on the way in - a total 180 that's going to reignite the whole housing-and-jobs debate.

- Mark Carney floated the idea of raising immigration levels in a sit-down with The New York Times
- Comes after his government spent the last stretch dialing immigration targets down, not up
- No hard numbers or timeline confirmed yet - just Carney signaling a shift in direction

■ 'Dancing With the Stars' sends another couple home in shocking 'Yacht Rock Night' elimination

The Angle: It's the season's latest gut-punch elimination, and Yacht Rock Night's cheesy-fun theme made the surprise boot hit even harder — perfect fodder for hosts to debate whether America's voting got it wrong again.

- Another celebrity and their pro partner were eliminated Tuesday night
- The elimination came on 'Yacht Rock Night', a themed competition episode
- Fans and the hosts are calling it a 'shocking' result

■ Deeply embarrassing sequence. Eric Schmitt accuses Jack Smith of traveling to Atlanta to attend an Atlanta Hawks game and collude with Fani Willis, only to get the basic facts completely wrong. Smith was actually in Maryland attending a Hawkeyes game and never met Willis

The Angle: A senator tried to drop a bombshell accusation and instead delivered a masterclass in not fact-checking yourself — mixing up an NBA team with a college football team in the process. It's the kind of self-own that writes its own punchline.

- Sen. Eric Schmitt accused Jack Smith of flying to Atlanta to catch a Hawks game as cover to secretly meet Fani Willis
- Only problem: Smith was actually in Maryland watching the Hawkeyes — as in Iowa's college team, not Atlanta's NBA team
- The two teams share basically nothing but a similar name
- No evidence Smith and Willis ever met at all

The Angle: A new Alejandro G. Iñárritu climate drama has critics split: Tom Cruise is getting raves for the performance, but reviewers are calling out the film itself for lecturing audiences on climate doom while cashing in on that same doom for entertainment.

- Tom Cruise stars in "Digger," directed by Alejandro G. Iñárritu
- CBC calls it a "climate morality tale" — but not necessarily a compliment
- The critique: the movie uses "high-minded entertainment" to joke about "our impending doom" the same way society ignored the real crisis
- Reviewer's verdict on Cruise: fantastic performance — but "you might hate it"
